

K-LOVE (94.3 in Chicago) uses a translator service for operation. This is a valuable service to me as a local resident. They provide music, programming, and information which is inspirational, informative, and helpful. They provide a service which cannot be reproduced locally, and yet still provides information about local events of interest. This would not be available if it were replaced by a LPFM. The K-LOVE service is of great benefit to the local community because its music and programming which is used by thousands of people, churches, and companies in the area. Most of my community of friends listen to K-LOVE, became aware of new songs and information through it, and have found great relief from it. I strongly discourage and disagree with the replacement of the translator service with the LPFM service.
